A semi-independent expedition in Southern Norway

Every member of our contingent will be going on their own journeys north of the ordinary. They'll discover skills and talents they never knew they had. They'll meet people so different to them - yet with so much in common.

During the first five days, participants will explore a self-chosen 'path' in locations such as Oslo, Bergen, Trondheim and Aalesund. Our UK patrols will join patrols from other countries to complete their chosen path, under the supervision of International Service Team (IST) and Norwegian Scout Groups.

One of the highlights of Roverway is the opportunity for young people to truly shape their experience – and the paths will cater for many different interests

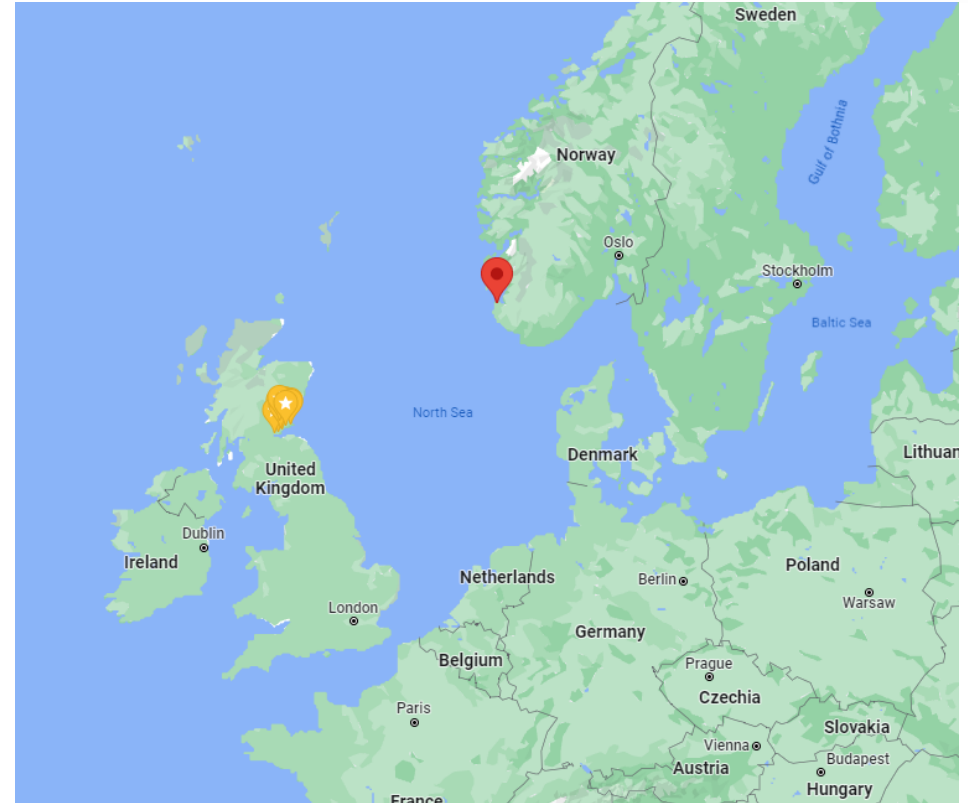

A Jamboree style main camp experience near Stavanger

All the patrols join for a large camp near Stavanger. Stavanger is often called "the gateway to the fjords", and its location on the west coast affords it access to some of Norway's most iconic scenery.

The camp is a chance to share stories from their paths and to take part in a programme of activities with young people from across Europe and beyond

Stavanger!

A post event experience for the UK contingent

The final part of Roverway is the post-event, which sees the UK Contingent come together for a shared experience. We will ensure the post-event is youth shaped by actively involving participants in its design.

COST.....

The UK Contingent fee for UK-based participants is £1,999.

The fee includes:

- Return travel from the UK.
- Meals
- Travel in-country
- The event cost
- A post-event experience, return travel, and the
- Kit package.

- A Training event for Patrol Leaders in 2024.

Not included:

- County preparation events.

Participants will be able to apply for a grant as part of our Inclusion Fund for World Scouting Events.

If oversubscribed, we will select by ballot!

North of the ordinary you'll find a unique landscape of fjords and forests. You'll find people with a passion for nature and how it connects to their lives. You'll find a culture steeped in myth and legend, of pioneering explorers and fierce independence. What lies North of the Ordinary? All the extraordinary magic of Scandinavia.
