

Scouts Speak Up

Homework

First & Last Name

Recall a Scouting activity or event you've taken part in, preferably one you'd like the local press to know about! Now, answer the following questions and you'll have a great start to your story. That sounds simple, but can be quite challenging. If you can't get the words right straight away, keep trying. Ask family and friends to help out.

Who? Who is involved – your Group or District, a supporting organisation or company? Who does your news affect/who does it benefit?
What? What is new? What have you completed or taken part in?
Why? Why is this story of interest – what does it say about Scouting that is new or surprising?
Where? Where is this taking place or happening?
When? What is the timing of this? Does this add significance?

If you're struggling to choose a Scout activity or event, try relating them to our Scout Sign – which one best promotes Scouting's skills for life?
