

The following instructions MUST be given to authorised participants before they have access to the rifles

Rifles are not toys and must be treated with respect; therefore the following must be adhered to:

- Any failure to comply with the rules will result in the offender being sent from the range without further notice;
- The rifles must be kept pointing towards the targets at all times;
- If a participant has any problems of any sort, they must break the rifle, stand back and raise their hand;
- If the range marshal calls a stop to shooting, the rifles must be immediately broken, placed in the shooting direction and the participants must step back.
